

Sri Vraja-riti-cintamani

The Cintamani Jewel of Vraja

by Śrīla Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura translated by Kusakratha dasa

Chapter 1

Text 1

yal-loka-rīti-śruti-pīti-mātrāl lokottarātmānubhāve pramodam muktvaiva muktāḥ spr̥hayanti yasyai tāṁ kṛṣṇa-lilā-vrajabhūmim īde yat—of which; loka-riti—of the nature; śruti—by hearing; pīti—drinking; mātrāt—from only; loka—the material world; uttara—beyond; ātma—the Supreme; ānubhāve—in the experience; pramodam—bliss; muktvā—rejecting; eva—certainly; muktāḥ—liberated souls; spṛ̥hayanti—yearn after; yasayi—which; tām—that; kṛṣṇa—of Kṛṣṇa; lilā—pastimes; vrajabhūmim—Vrajabhumi; īde—I glorify.

Let me glorify Vrajabhūmi, the place where Śrī Kṛṣṇa enjoys transcendental pastimes. Simply by drinking with their ears the nectarean description of Vrajabhūmi, the liberated souls abandon the bliss of impersonal Brahman and yearn to attain the land of Vraja.

Text 2

śrī kṛṣṇa-caitanya-rasa-svarūpam advaitam ānandam ihādi nityam lokair amṛṣyam vrama-loka-vaṣyam bhajāny avaṣyam śucito 'py avaṣyam

śrī-kṛṣṇa—of Śrī Kṛṣṇa; caitanya—transcendental; rasa—mellows; svarūpam—the form; advaitam—unparalleled; ānandam—blissful; ihā—here; ādi—transcendental; nityam—eternal; lokaiḥ—by the conditioned souls; amṛṣyam—inconceivable; vrama-loka—by the residents of Vraja; vaṣyam—subdued; bhajāni—let me worship; avaṣyam—inevitably; sucitah—purified; api—also; avaṣyam—inevitably.

With a pure heart let me worship Vrajabhūmi, which is the form of the sweetness of meditation on Śrī Kṛṣṇa, which is eternal, transcendental, blissful, and peerless, and which, although it cannot be understood by ordinary people, is easily understood by its residents.

Note: Śrīla Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura has concealed the names Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, Nityānanda, and Advaita in the first two lines of this verse.

Text 3

kāvyam kaveḥ kāvyatayā prasiddham kāvyasya kāvyam ca yato 'pi kāvyam tad eva kāvyam mama kāvya-kāvyam vrajāṅka-kāvyam param astu kāvyam kāvyam—the poem; kaveḥ—of the poet; kāvyatayā—by its poetic qualities; prasiddham—is celebrated; kāvyasya—of the poem; kāvyam—the poetry; ca—also; yataḥ—because; api—also; kāvyam—poem; tat—this; eva—certainly; kāvyam—poem; mama—my; kāvya—among poems; kāvyam—poem; vraja—of Vraja; āṅka—with the mark; kāvyam—poem; param—best; astu—should be; kāvyam—poem.

A poet's poem becomes famous because of its quality of being poetic. I shall boldly declare that this poem of mine is the most poetic and best of all poems, for it glorifies the transcendental land of Vraja.

Text 4

caitanya-rūpodita-rītim ekam ekantam abhyāstum aham samīhe tat tat-tadīyānuga tokta-bhāvo bhāvocito dhyeya ito na kāvyam

caitanya—by Śrī Caitanya Mahaprabhu; rūpa—and Śrīla Rupa Gosvami; udita-rītam—described; ekam—sole; eka-antam—sole; abhyāstum—to attempt; aham—I; samīhe—desire; tat-tat-tadītya-anugata—by Their followers; ukta—described; bhāvah—mellows of ecstatic love; bhāva-ucitah—philosophically sound; dhyeyah—the proper object of meditation; itah—compared to which; na kavyam—this book is hardly poetic at all.

I yearn to be able to write as well as Lord Caitanya's Rūpa Gosvāmī, but I cannot write as well as he, and neither can I write as well as his followers who wrote many wonderful, perfect books, which everyone should read and remember. Compared to their books my little book can hardly be considered poetic.

Text 5

vaikuṇṭha-kotyas cita āsate 'lam brahmānda-kotyo 'pi cito 'cito 'pi sarvatra vṛṇdāvanam etad eva yathā sa kṛṣṇah pulināśanādau

vaikuṇṭha—of Vaikuntha planets; kotyāḥ—millions; citāḥ—spiritual; āsate—are; alam—greatly; brahmānda—of universes; kotyāḥ—millions; api—even; citāḥ—collected; acitāḥ—material; api—also; sarvatra—in all respects; vṛṇdāvanam—Vṛndāvana; etat—this; eva—certainly; yathā—just as; sāḥ—He; kṛṣṇa—Śrī Kṛṣṇa; pulina—of the bank of the Yamuna; āśana—eating lunch; ādau—and performing other pastimes.

Millions of material universes and even millions of spiritual Vaikuṇṭha planets are not very significant in comparison to Vṛndāvana, where Śrī Kṛṣṇa enjoyed lunch with His friends on the Yamunā's sandy bank, and enjoyed many other transcendental pastimes.

Text 6

idam ghanī-bhūta-cid-eka-rūpam vṛṇdāvanam yatra vasanti sarve śrī-kṛṣṇa-līlā-parivāra-rūpā yathaiva kṛṣṇah sa tathaiva te 'pi

idam—this; ghanī-bhūta—completely; cit—spiritual; eka-rūpam—in form; vṛṇdāvanam—Vṛndāvana; yatra—where; vasanti—reside; sarve—all; śrī-kṛṣṇa—of Śrī Kṛṣṇa; līlā—in transcendental pastimes; parivāra—of companions; rūpāḥ—in the forms; yatha—just as; eva—certainly; ; kṛṣṇah Kṛṣṇa; sāḥ—He; tatha—in that way; eva—certainly; ; te—they; api—also.

Śrī Kṛṣṇa's friends and associates, who enjoy pastimes with Him as equals, reside in this perfectly spiritual abode of Vṛndāvana.

Text 7

sarve ghanī-bhūta-cid-eka-rūpāḥ tathāpy aho prākṛtavat pratītā parasparam ceṣṭitam apy amīṣam vrajaika-līleti camatkaro

sarve—all of them; ghanī-bhūta—perfectly; cit—spiritual; eka—sole; rūpāḥ—with forms; tathāpi—nevertheless; aho—Oh; prākṛtavat—as if material; pratītā—believed; parasparam—mutual; ceṣṭitam—activities; api—also; amīṣam—of them; vraja—in Vraja; eka—sole; līlā—pastimes; iti—thus; camatkaro—charms.

All these associates of the Lord have spiritual bodies, although their forms and activities appear ordinary and material to the conditioned souls. These associates of the Lord are enchanted by Lord Kṛṣṇa's charming pastimes in Vraja.

Text 8

yā pañcamāvāsthiti-gāmi-samvit tad-vṛtti-rūpas tad-ananya-vṛttyā jānanti kṛṣṇam nijam eva bandhum tam prākṛtam manya-janā na citram yā—which; pañcama—fifth; avāsthiti—condition; gāmi— attained; samvit—knowledge; tat—of that; vṛtti—consisting; rūpaḥ—whose forms; tat-ananya—without anything else; vṛttyā—with actions; jānanti—understand; kṛṣṇam—Śrī Kṛṣṇa; nijam—as their own; eva—certainly; bandhum—friend and relative; tam—Him; prākṛtam—material; manya-janāḥ— people; na—this is not; citram—wonderful.

Although their forms and actions are filled with spiritual knowledge, the people of Vraja know Kṛṣṇa as their friend and relative: an ordinary person. This is not at all surprising.

Text 9

sarvottamānām api sarvataḥ syāt sva-nyūna-bhāvah prabhu-bhakti-śaktyā pratyakṣam īkṣe vraja-loka etam tam prākṛtam manyatame cid-arcye sarva-uttamānām—of the most exalted devotees; api—even; sarvataḥ—in all respects; syāt—may be; sva—own; nyūna—bhāvah—conception of being the least important; prabhu—of the Lord; bhakti—of devotional service; śaktyā—by the potency; pratyakṣam—directly; īkṣe—I see; vraja—of Vraja; lokah—the residents; etam—Him; tam—Him; prākṛtam—ordinary; manyatame—consider; cit—spiritual; arcye—worshippable.

Although they are the most exalted, by the influence of the potency of pure devotion to the Lord they think themselves the most lowly and insignificant. I have with my own eyes seen how the people of Vraja think themselves ordinary even though the great saints worship them.

Text 10

tenaiva tasyaiva vaśas tathaiva tattraiva nityaṁ vilasaty alaṁ sah atyantikair eva rahasya-rasyair mādhurya-pūrair amita-prakāśyaiḥ tena—because of this; eva—certainly; tasya—by them; eva—certainly; vaśaḥ- defeated; tatha—in that way; eva—certainly; tatra—among them; eva—certainly; nityam—eternally; vilasati—performs pastimes; alam—greatly; sah—He; atyantikaiḥ—with great; eva—certainly; rahasya—confidential; rasyaiḥ—mellows; mādhurya—of sweetness; pūraiḥ—with floods; amita—unlimited; prakāśyaiḥ—with manifestations.

Defeated by their humbleness, Śrī Kṛṣṇa eternally enjoys pastimes in their midst. In their presence He manifests a limitless flood of the sweetness of the most confidential transcendental mellows.

Text 11

ato 'tra yā prākṛta-lokavattā līlā-paraiśvarya-višeṣa-varṣā saivāti-rasyā cid-acit-praśasyā mādhurya-śasyā mahatām upasyā ataḥ—therefore; atra—here; yā—which; prākṛta-likavattā—as if ordinary and material; līlā—of pastimes; para—supreme; aisvarya—of opulence; višeṣa—specific; varṣā—shower; sa—that; eva—certainly; ati—very; rasyā—nectarean; cit—spiritual; acit—material; praśasyā—considered; mādhurya—of sweetness; śasyā—with the quality; mahatām—by the advanced transcendentalists; upasyā—worshipable.

Even though it appears to be material, the opulent sweet nectar shower of Lord Kṛṣṇa's pastimes is worshiped by the great devotees.

Text 12

vṛndāvanam gokula-dhāma goṣṭham vrajam ca nāmāni śubhāni yasya tadīya-lokīyam acintya-kṛtyam vañchāmi kiñcid dayayaiva teṣām vṛndāvanam—Vṛndāvana; gokula-dhāma—Gokula-dhama; goṣṭham—Gostha; vrajam—Vraja; ca—also; nāmāni—names; śubhāni—auspicious; yasya—of which; tadīya—lokīyam—of its residents; acintya—inconceivable; kṛtyam—with activities; vañchāmi—I aspire to attain; kiñcit—some; dayayā—by themercy; eva—certainly; teṣām—of them.

I pray that by the mercy of its inconceivable residents I will attain the place that bears the auspicious names Vṛndāvana, Gokula-dhāma, Goṣṭha, and Vraja.

Text 13

tac cāty-acintyam cid ananya-sārām cidanya-bhāvam ca tad ekam eva avantarāneka-vibhedam ekam grāmā aranyāni gavāṁ nivāsah

tat—that; ca—also; ati-very; acintyam—inconcievable; cit—ananya-sāram—completely spiritual; cit-anya-bhāvam—appearing to be material; ca—also; tat—that; ekam—one; eva—certainly; avantara—within; aneka—many; vibhedam—divisions; ekam—one; grāmāḥ—villages; aranyāni—forests; gavāṁ nivāsah—cow-pastures.

Vṛndāvana cannot be understood by conditioned souls, for although it may appear to be material, all its villages, forests, and cow-pastures are perfectly spiritual.

Text 14

sarvasya kaścit prakaṭah prakāśah sadā bhṛśam prākṛtavaj janādyaiḥ yah prākṛtair eva yuto 'pi līlāprakaṭya-kale pṛthu-varṇya-vat syāt sarvasya—of the entirety; kaścit—something; prakaṭah—manifest; prakāśah—present in the world; sadā—always; bhṛśam—greatly; prākṛtavat—like matter; jana-ad�aiḥ—by the ordinary conditioned souls; yah—which; prākṛtaiḥ—with material elements; eva—certainly; yutah—endowed; api—eve; līlā—of Lord Kṛṣṇa's pastimes; prakaṭya—of manifestation; kale—at the time; pṛthu—abundant; varṇya-vat—with descriptions; syāt—may be.

Some portion of transcendental Vṛndāvana becomes visible in this world at the time of Lord Kṛṣṇa's manifest pastimes. Conditioned souls think Vṛndāvana is material, although actually it is spiritual, and beyond their ability to understand or describe.

Text 15

tat-tac-chirobhūtam apāra-śobham nandīśvaram sādhu-gaṇā vadanti nandīśvaram tam ca yadīya-rūpam śrī-nanda-rājālaya-rājamānam

tat-tac-chirobhūtam—as the crown of Vṛndāvana; apāra—limitless; sobham—with splendor; nandīśvaram—Nandīśvara Hill; sādhu-gaṇā—the devotees; vadanti—say; nandīśvaram—Nandīśvara Hill; tam—that; ca—also; yadīya—of Lord Śiva; rūpam—the form; śrī-nanda-rājā—of Nanda Mahārāja; raja-alaya—the capitol; rajamanam—manifested.

The devotees declare that Nandīśvara Hill, the form of Lord Śiva now shining as Nanda Mahārāja's capitol, is an endlessly beautiful crown decorating Vṛndāvana.

Text 16

yat—of which; parśvayoh—on the two shoulders; santi—are; purāṇi—residences; goduhām—of the cowherd men; bhūrīṇi—many; cārūṇi—lovely; samāni—alike; alam—greatly; taya—by that; paścāt—behind; tu—indeed; nandīśvarah—Nandīśvara Hill; eva—certainly; rājate—is manifested; nandīśvarah—Lord Siva; ayam—to that; satataṁ—constantly; sah-he; vandate—offers respectful obeisances.

The cowherds' many beautiful homes rest on two sides and Nandīśvara Hill is splendidly manifest behind them. Lord Śiva repeatedly offers respectful obeisances to the hill.

Text 24

teṣām api prānta-gatāty-agamyā pracīra-rājī manijāta-jātā ratnālaye ratnaja-dehalīke muktādi-ratnāvali toranāli

teṣām—of them; api—also; prānta-gata—on the boundary; ati—very; agamyā—impassable; pracīra-rājī—walls; manijāta-jātā—made of jewels; ratna—of jewels; alaye—the abode; ratnaja—of jewels; dehalīke—at the threshold; mukta—with pearls; ādi—beginning; ratna—jewels; avalī—with many; torana—gates; ali—many.

Each cowherd's home is surrounded by an impassable jewel wall with many jewel entrance-ways and many gates studded with pearls and other jewels.

Text 25

yān īkṣamāṇā nigadanti bhūyo vimāna-vāsān iti martya-lokāḥ vaikuṇṭha-vāsān iti nāka-nāthāḥ vaikuṇṭha-gās te rasa-sāra-sāram

yan—which; īkṣamāṇāḥ—seeing; nigadanti—say; bhūyah—again; vimānah—of the demigods; vāsān—homes; iti—thus; martya-lokāḥ—the earth residents; vaikuṇṭha—of Vaikuṇṭha; vāsān—the homes; iti—thus; nāka-nāthāḥ—the demigods; vaikuṇṭha-gāḥ—the residents of Vaikuṇṭha; te—they; rasa—of nectar; sāra—of the best; sāram—the best.

Seeing these cowherd men's homes, human beings proclaim them more wonderful than the residences of the demigods, demigods proclaim them more wonderful than the residences in Vaikuṇṭha, and the Vaikuṇṭha-vāśīs proclaim them more wonderful than the sweetest nectar.

Text 26

*purah pratīhāra-varasya yasyāḥ samantataḥ parśva-yugasya rasyāḥ purohitānām ca purohitānām ānanda—bliss; vṛndāvana—Vṛndāvana; rīti-leśam—a little; veśam—appearance; vidhātum—to place; vacasā—with words; kavīnām—of poets; vinām—a lute; iva—as if; spṛṣṭum—to touch; ayogyatānām—of those who do not know the art; tāna—of a melody; amśa—a fragment; vat—like; kiñcana—something; sūcayāni—I shall indicate.

I shall now describe the bliss of Śrī Vṛndāvana-dhāma just as Paramānanda Kavikarnapūra has done in his book Ānanda-Vṛndāvana-campū, and many other great poets have also done in their books. Although I am not qualified to describe Vṛndāvana I shall describe it a little bit, just as someone unlearned in music may strum a lute and pick out a few melodic fragments here and there.

sve sve sarasy eva hi yatra mat-sara iva prayogah kriyate kvacij janaiḥ strī-mekhalādi khala ity udīryate yat-komalādau mala-śabda ucyate

sve sve—in their own; sarasi—lake; eva—certainly; hi—indeed; yatra—where; mat-sarāḥ—the word "matsara"; iva—as; prayogah—appropriate meaning; kriyate—is done; kvacit—on occasion; janaiḥ—by the vrajavāsīs; strī—of a woman; mekhala—sash; ādi—beginning; khalaḥ—"khala"; iti—thus; udīryate—is said; yat—which; komala—delicate and gentle; ādau—beginning; mala—"mala"; śabdah—the word; ucyate—is said.

When the vrajavāsīs say the word "matsara: they do not mean "envy", but "my lake". When they say "khala", they do not mean "demon", but "a woman's sash". When they say "mala" they do not mean "defect", but "gentle and delicate". In this way they never speak anything unpleasant, but everything they say is pleasing and auspicious.

pradoṣa—pradoṣa; doṣākara—doṣākara; roṣa—roṣa; moṣa—moṣa; doṣa—doṣa; ādi—beginning with; śabda—of words; śrutiḥ—hearing; asti—is; yatra—where; sāyam—evening; śāśāṅka—the moon; praṇayā—as love; akhya—known; keli—pastimes; niśā—night; ādikeṣu—beginning with; eva—certainly; kadācit—sometimes; eva—certainly.

When the vrajavāsīs say the word "pradoṣa" they do not mean "fault", but rather "evening". When they say "doṣākara" they do not mean "rascal", but "moon". When they say "roṣa", they do not mean "anger", but "love". When they say "moṣa" they do not mean a cruel thief, but Kṛṣṇa's playfully stealing the gopīs' yogurt. In this way they never speak anything unpleasant, but everything they say is pleasing and auspicious.

chatrādi-dan̄de śubha-cāmarādi-dan̄de ca dan̄da-śrutir asti yatra nīvy-ādi keśādika eva bandhah samādhi-yogādikarādhi-śabdah

chatra—a parasol; ādi—beginning with; dan̄de—in the handle; śubha—auspicious; camara—camara fan; adi—beginning with; dan̄de—in the handle; ca—also; danda—of the word "dan̄da"; śrutih—the hearing; asti—is; yatra—where; nīvi—"nivi"; ādi—beginning with; keśa—hair; ādikah—beginning with; eva—certainly; bandhah—tie; samādhi-yoga—yoga meditation; ādi—beginning with; kara—doing; adhi—"adhi"; śabdah—the word.

When the vrajavāsīs say the word "dan̄da", they do not mean "the king's rod of chastisement", but rather, "the handle of a parasol, camara fan, or other similar article." When they say "nīvi", they do not mean "handcuffs", but "a ribbon for tying the hair." When they say "adhi", they do not mean "headache", but "ecstatic meditation on the Personality of Godhead." In this way they never speak anything unpleasant, but everything they say is pleasing and auspicious.

kastūrikā-kuṇkuma-candanādipañkeṣu pañka-śravaṇam ca yatra kauṭilyam aste vara-kundalādau kāṭhinyam apy asti śilādikeṣu

kastūrikā—musk; kuṇkuma—kunkuma; candana—sandalwood paste; ādi—beginning with; pañkeṣu—in the ointments; pañka—"pañka" śravaṇam—the hearing; ca—also; yatra—where; kauṭilyam—crookedness; aste—is; vara—beautiful; kundala—earrings; ādau—beginning with; kāṭhinyām—hardness; api—also; asti—is; śila-ādikeṣu—in rocks and other hard substances.

When the vrajavāsīs say the word "pañka" they do not mean "mud", but aromatic ointments such as musk, kuṇkuma, and sandalwood paste. When they say "crookedness" they do not mean the crookedness of a thief, but the beautiful shape of spiral earrings or some other ornament. When they say "hardness" they do not mean the hard-heartedness of a cruel person, but the hardness of a gem or stone. In this way they never speak anything unpleasant, but everything they say is pleasing and auspicious.

puṣpādi-dhūliṣu rajah prayujyate yatṛāndhakāre tama ity udīryate dvandvam ca yugme pavane ca mandatā cāñcalyam aste hari-locaṇāya

puṣpa—of flowers; ādi—beginning with; dhūliṣu—in the pollen; rajaḥ—“rajaḥ”; prayujyate—is employed; yatra—where; andhakāre—in darkness; tamah—“tamah” iti—thus; udīryate—is said; dvandvam—“dvandva”; ca—also; yugme—in a couple; pavane—in the wind; ca—also; mandatā—slowness; cāñcalyam—restlessness; aste—is; hari—of Lord Hari; locanāya—for the seeing.

When the vrajavāsīs say the word “rajaḥ” they do not mean “material passion”, but “the pollen of flowers”. When they say “tamah” they do not mean “ignorance”, but “the pleasant darkness of night”. When they say “dvandvam” they do not mean “the material dualities of happiness and distress”, but “a happy couple”. When they say “slowness” they do not refer to the intellect, but the wind. When they say “restlessness” they do not mean anything inauspicious, but rather “great eagerness to see Lord Hari,” or else “the charmingly restless glances of the Lord.” In this way they never speak anything unpleasant, but everything they say is pleasing and auspicious.

madhyādike kṣīnah pada-prayogo yatrodakeṣv eva ca nīcagatvam viśāda-dainya-śrama-moha-nidrā-lasyādayo 'pi vyabhicāri-bhāve madhya—the waist; ādike—beginning with; kṣīnah—small; pada—of the word; prayogah—usage; yatra—where; udakeṣu—in water; eva—certainly; ca—also; nīca—by the lowly; gatvam—the ability to attain; viśāda—lamentation; dainya—humility; śrama—fatigue; moha—bewilderment; nidrā—sleep; alasya—laziness; ādayah—beginning with; api—also; vyabhicāri—bhāve—in ecstatic love of God.

When the vrajavāsīs say the word “smallness” they do not refer to the lack of anything good, but rather to a slender waist. When they say “nīcagatvam” they do not mean “faith in rascals” but “a stream that can be easily crossed.” When they say the words “lamentation, humility, fatigue, bewilderment, sleep, and laziness” they do not mean any inauspicious material traits, but rather the various symptoms of ecstatic love of God.

In this way they never speak anything unpleasant, but everything they say is pleasing and auspicious.

jānanti gā eva hi kāmadhenuḥ sāmanya-vṛkṣān iti kalpa-vṛkṣān cintāmaṇīn yatra śilāvad eva vrajasya kā sampadato hi vācyah jānanti—they understand; gāḥ—cows; eva—certainly; hi—indeed;

kāmadhenuḥ—kamadhenu cows; sāmanya—in general; vṛkṣān—trees; iti—thus; kalpa-vṛkṣān—desire trees; cintāmaṇīn—cintāmaṇī gems; yatra—where; śilā—rocks; vat—like; eva—certainly; vrajasya—of Vraja; kā—what?; sampadataḥ—of the opulence; hi—indeed; vācyah—is describeable.

When the vrajavāsīs say the word "cows" they refer to the celestial kāmadhenu cows. When they say "trees" they mean kalpa-vṛkṣa trees that fulfill all desires. When they say "rocks" they mean cintāmaṇī gems. How is it possible to describe the limitless opulences of Vraja?

śobhāti-śobhāt śrutayo 'nvayūs tāḥ yan-mādhurīm vīkṣya rāmā mumoha vrajasya tasyāstu kim atra varṇyam yadiya—of which; yoṣit-jana—of the women; saubhagīya—of the good fortune; śobha-atī-śobhāt—because of the superlative of splendor; śrutayah—the Personified Vedas; anvayūḥ—followed in the footsteps; tāḥ—they; yat—of whom; mādhurīm—the charming sweetness; vīkṣya—seeing; rāmā—Lakṣmī-devī; mumoha—faints with envy; vrajasya—of Vraja; tasya—of that; astu—may be; kim—what?; atra—here; varṇyam—describeable.

When the Personified Vedas saw the splendid good fortune of the vraja-gopīs, they decided to follow in their footsteps and become gopīs also. When Lakṣmī-devī saw the charming sweetness of the vraja-gopīs, she became bewildered and fainted with envy. Who can describe the transcendental opulences of this land of Vraja?

yatraiva śuddha-praṇaya-svabhāvā premṇaiva jānanti paraṁ sva-bandhum lokottarā lokavad eva tam ca svāṁ svāṁ ca tatrāsti na kim vicitram yatra—where; eva—certainly; śuddha—pure; pranaya—with love; sva-bhāvāḥ—by nature; premṇa—with transcendental love; eva—certainly; jānanti—understand; param—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; sva-bandhum—their friend and relative; loka-uttarāḥ—liberated, transcendental personalities; loka-vat—as ordinary persons; eva—certainly; ; tam—Him; ca—also; svāṁ svām—as their own; ca—also; tatra—in this; asti—there is; na—not; kim—what?; vicitram—wonderful.

Filled with pure transcendental love, the vrajavāsīs considered the Supreme Personality of Godhead their intimate friend or relative. Although they were all liberated, transcendental personalities, they appeared just like ordinary conditioned souls. What is not wonderful in this?

guṇāḥ—qualities; tu—indeed; te—they; prākṛta—material; dharma—attributes; śūnyā-without; doṣāḥ—faults; api—even; syūḥ—may be; rase—in the transcendental mellows; manyāḥ—considered; nanda—of Nanda Maharaja; vraje—in Vrajabhumi; kauṭukam—wonder; eva—certainly; ; sarvam—everything; kharvam—crippled; vidhatte—places; tri-guṇah—the three modes of material nature; atha—then; garvam—pride.

The vrajavāsīs are filled with auspicious spiritual qualities. They have no material attributes. What may even seem to be faults on their part are actually auspicious and spiritual when seen in connection to their transcendental rasa with Kṛṣṇa. Seeing this wonderful condition of the residents of Nanda Mahārāja's Vrajabhūmi, the three modes of material nature have become embarrassed. They have relinquished all their pride in being able to control others.

smṛtītihāsākhyā-purāṇa-vede santi pramāṇāni param tv ihaśya traikālikopāsaka-loka-sākṣat karāt sadedr̥k sthitir eva nityā smṛti—smṛti-sastra; ithāsa—itihāsa; ākhyā—named; purāṇa—Purāṇas; vede—in the Vedas santi—are; pramāṇāni—evidences; param—greatly; tu—indeed; iha—in is connectionl; asya—of this; traikālika—in all three phases of time; upāsaka-loka—of the devotees; sākṣat karāt—directly; sadā—always; idṛk—like this; sthitih—situation; eva—certainly; nityā—eternal.

That the devotees are eternally filled with all spiritual virtues and always free from material defects or the influence of the three modes of nature is confirmed by many statements of the Smṛti, Itihāsa, Purāṇas, and Vedas.

nityaiva sarvā yadi kṛṣṇa-līlā tathāpy anityaiva matāpi kaiscit adeyatāto 'ti-rahasyatātas tasyecchayeti pravadanti taj-jñāḥ nitya—eternal; eva—certainly; sarvā—all; yadi—if; kṛṣṇa—of Śrī Kṛṣṇa; līlā—the pastimes; tathāpi—nevertheless; anitya—not eternal; eva—certainly; ; matā—considered; api—even; kaiścit—by some; adeyatataḥ—because of not being fit to understand; ati-rahasyatataḥ—because of being confidential in nature; tasya—of Him; icchaya—by the desire; iti—thus; pravadanti—say; tat-jñah—those who understand.

Someone many ask: "If Śrī Kṛṣṇa's pastimes are all eternal, then why do some people think that they are temporary?"

The devotees, learned in transcendental science, reply: "These matters are very confidential, and Śrī Kṛṣṇa is unwilling to allow unqualified non-devotees to understand them. For this reason He conceals the truth from them."

yābhiḥ—by whom; svayam personally; prāpta—attained; vara—benediction; prasāda—of the mercy; leśasya—of a fragment; yogyā—suitable; na—not; babhuva—was; lakṣmīḥ—Lakṣmī-devi; na—not; ayam—this; śriyāḥ—of Lakṣmī; aṅgah—The form; iti—thus; yat—which; niruktam—said; śrīmat-śukena—by Śrīla Śuka deva Gosvāmī; mahā-purāṇe—in the Śrimad-Bhāgavatam Mahā-Purāṇa.

Even Lakṣmī-devī was unable to attain even a small fragment of the mercy the gopīs attained. Śrīla Śukadeva Gosvāmī confirmed this is in the Śrimad

Bhāgavatam (10.47.60):

"When Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa was dancing with the gopīs in the rāsa-līlā, the gopīs were embraced by the arms of the Lord. This transcendental favor was never bestowed upon the goddess of fortune or the other consorts in the spiritual world. Indeed, never was such a favor even imagined by the most beautiful girls in the heavenly planets, whose bodily luster and aroma resemble those of lotus flowers. And what to speak of worldly women who are very beautiful according to the material estimation."*

kim—is it?; gāndā—large; śailah—rocks; sphatikā—of crystal; acalasya—of the mountain; mahā—great; urmayah—waves; kim—is it?; nu—indeed; mahā—great; payah—of milk; dheḥ—from the ocean; sāyam—at evening; grhāḥ—at their asramas; ye—who; muni-sages; vat—like; ca—also; jīvat—although living within the material world; muktāḥ—already liberated; iva—like; svaira—according to their own desire; carāḥ—moving; hi—indeed; śaṇḍāḥ—bulls.

Are these great boulders from the crystal mountain? Are they tidal waves from the milk-ocean? These are the bulls of Vraja. During the day they freely wander, just as liberated souls, and during the evening they sit peacefully at home, just as great sages rapt in contemplation.

nandīśvara—Nandīśvara; śrī-vṛṣabhānu—of Mahārāja Vṛṣabhānu; śaila—of the hill; madhye—between; tu—indeed; mat—by me; dhyeyatama—best object of meditation; svarūpam—in the form; saṅketa-nāmā-aspadam—rendezvous; eva—certainly; śaṅke—I consider; prema—pure love; tat—that; dvandva-varasya—of the Divine Couple mūrtam—the form.

Midway between Nandīśvara Hill and Vṛṣabhānu Hill is Saṅketa, the place of Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa's rendezvous. I meditate on this place. I think it is the personification of the divine couple's love.

pariyanta-bhūmau vidhuhṝdya-nāma tasyaiva cūḍā-svasu-yāvatākhyā palli-manīnām ghaṭitā ghaṭābhīḥ nandīśvarasya—Nandīśvara; eśvara-kōṇa-kānde—in the north; pariyanta—bhūmau—on the outskirts; vidhuhṝdya—Vidhuhṝdya; nāma—named; tasya—of that; eva—certainly; cūḍā—crest jewel; svasu—of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī's parents-in-law; yāvata-Yāvata; akhyā—named; palli-manīnām—of the jewels among towns; ghaṭitā—filled; ghaṭābhīḥ with many.

To the north of Nandīśvara Hill is the district of Vidhuhṝdya, where the town of Yāvata is located. That populous town is like the crown-jewel of all jewel-like towns, and it is the home of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī's parents-in-law.

śrī-kṛṣṇena kṛpā-bhareṇa gurunā caitanya-rūpena yā tal-līlā-rasa-dhāma-dhāma-janatā-rītiḥ prakāśam gatā tasyā leṣa-viṣeṣa-veṣa-manane śrī-rīti-cintāmaṇau sargo 'yam prathamo 'bhavat bhava-mude nandīśvaroddeśataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇena—by Śrī Kṛṣṇa;; kṛpā-bhareṇa—merciful; gurunā—by the spiritual master; caitanya—of Śrī Caitanya; rūpena—in the form; yā—which; tat—of Him; līlā—of pastimes; rasa—nectarean mellows; dhāma—abode; dhāma—of the abode; janatā—of the people; rītiḥ—writing; prakāśam gatā—is manifested; tasyāḥ—of this; leṣa—a little viṣeṣa—specific; veṣa—appearance; manane—in the consideration; śrī-rīti-cintāmaṇi; sargah—chapter; ayam—this; prathamah—first; abhavat—was; bhava—of the world; mude—for the delight; nandīśvara—to Nandīśvara; uddeśataḥ—in relation.

By the mercy of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, Śrīla Rūpa Gosvāmī, and my spiritual master, this book, a brief description of the Lord's splendid abode and nectar pastimes, has been written. The Śrī Vraja-rīti-cintāmaṇi's first chapter, which describes Nandīśvara Hill for the transcendental delight of the entire world, is now concluded.

Note: This verse is a little like a kaleidoscope. Each word in the first like may be interpreted as either a noun or adjective, and according to the interpretation the opening phrase assumes a different meaning. For example if "śrī-kṛṣṇena" is taken as the noun, and the other words as adjectives, the opening phrase means: "by the mercy of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, who is the master of the entire world, and who has appeared here as Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu." If "gurunā" is taken as the noun, the phrase means: "By the mercy of my spiritual master, who is the bona-fide representative of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, and Śrīla Rūpa Gosvāmī." If "caitanya-rūpeṇa" is taken as the noun, the phrase means: "By the mercy of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself, the master of all the worlds." If caitanya-rūpeṇa" is taken as the noun, the phrase may also be understood to mean: "By the mercy of Śrī Caitanya Mahaprabhu's Śrīla Rūpa Gosvāmī, who is the representative of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, and the spiritual master of all the Vaiṣṇavas."

yatra—where; asti—there is; cā candana-sāra-jātiḥ—a grove of sandalwood trees; na—not; tatra—there; sarpāḥ—a snake; sah—it; ca—and; cet—if; viṣām—poison; na—not; viṣām—poison; ca—and; cet—if; kvāpi—at any time; na—not; duḥkha—distress; dam—causing; tat—that; hareḥ—of Lord Hari; sukha—happiness; ekam—only; hari—of Lord Hari; dāsa—of the servants; vārye—on the best.

There is a pleasant grove of sandalwood trees on Govardhana Hill. Although snakes generally flock to sandalwood trees, no snakes ever come here, or if sometimes a snake may come it is not poisonous, or if sometimes a poisonous snake may come its poison is automatically counteracted, and it can do no harm. As the best servant of Lord Hari, Govardhana Hill has made this wonderful arrangement for the Lord's pleasure.

vyavartane—in the turning around; vamya-vaśat—because of contrariness; mṛga-akṣyāḥ—of the fawn-eyed gopī; sarpa-a snake; ādi—beginning with; vīkṣa—with the sight; ādibhiḥ—beginning; eva—certainly; ; sadyah—at once; svayam̄-personally; samāśleṣa—embracing; viṣeṣa—specific; lābhah—attainment; hareḥ—of Lord Hari; rasah—nectarean transcendental mellows; asau—this; hari—of Lord Hari; dāsa—of servants; vārye—on the best.

One time a contrary fawn-eyed gopī left Śrī Kṛṣṇa. A short time afterwards She saw a snake on the road. Frightened, She took shelter of Lord Kṛṣṇa, embracing Him and begging for protection. As Lord Hari's best servant, Govardhana Hill made all these nectarean arrangements for His pastimes.

Note: This verse may also be translated in the following way:

Rejected by a certain contrary fawn-eyed gopī, Śrī Kṛṣṇa said: "I have just been bitten by one of Govardhana Hill's snakes." When the gopī heard this, She became repentant, and came before the Lord with many apologies. As Lord Hari's best servant, Govardhana Hill made all these arrangements for His pastimes.

rādhā—Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇi; eva—certainly; kuṇḍam—alake; dravatām—liquidity; gata—attained; abnhut—was; kṛṣṇa—of Śrī Kṛṣṇa; iksana—from the sight; ānanda—of bliss; bhareṇa—by the abundance; manye—I think kṛṣṇah—Śrī Kṛṣṇa; api—also; rādhā—of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇi; ikṣaṇa—from the sight; moda—of bliss; bhārāt—because of the abundance; tena—for this reason; eva—certainly; ; tat—of Them; nāma—from the names; guṇāt—and qualities; vikuṇḍī—two lakes.

I think that when Rādhā saw Kṛṣṇa She melted with ecstasy and thus assumed the liquid state of the waters of Rādhā-kuṇḍa, and in the same way when Kṛṣṇa saw Rādhā He also melted in ecstasy and became the waters of Śyāma-kuṇḍa. In this way these two lakes bear the names and qualities of the divine couple.
